Ventuno

Designed by Franco Bertoli, Ventuno is the absolute choice for urban and modern cosmopolitan consumers, reflecting the sculptural style of today's modern architectural patterns and elements of fashion and decoration. It's uniqueness plays with the repetition of one shape creating a multi-facets sculpture as seen in cities like Paris, New York and Tokyo.

Robin Levien

Robin Levien is one of the UK's most consistently successful product designers of the last 25 years, with a special interest in ceramics. He has been working with Ideal Standard International for more than two decades. One of Levien's most popular designs for Ideal Standard is the Studio range, which has sold over 10 million items. Other well-known collections are Space (for smaller bathrooms), San Remo and more recently Connect, the brand's largest collection yet with over 100 items in the range.

Levien's design motto is FAB: Functional, Affordable, Beautiful, he believes a combination of these three will always be a great success.

Levien's interest in ceramics stems from school days. After graduating from the Royal College of Art in 1976, he worked alongside his former professor David Queensberry, and later became a senior partner of Queensberry Hunt Levien. In 1995, Levien became a Royal Designer for Industry, a distinction that is limited to 200 designers at any one time. Since 1999, he and his wife Tricia Stainton have run their own company, Studio Levien, concentrating on designing domestic products for leading international companies.

Concept

The modern bathroom design is manifested as hard edged minimalism, but there is a noticeable significant shift toward something softer. Crisp outer edges combine with soft interiors to produce sleek solutions. Hard and soft combined, references the minimal hard edge with a soft flowing contemporary reference. Organic & sculptural.

A combination of idea's including good design for the mass market, small space resolutions, and complex choices provide multiple successful bathroom solutions. It is all about choice, multiple solutions catering to a variety of tastes. Complimentary clean lines and affordable luxury are key ingredients in composing individual and unique spaces.

Ideal Standard CONCEPT is a collection of bathroom solutions created by Robin Levien. It features gentle geometry with the result being a very desirable and timeless 'soft minimalism' that is completely holistic. It's a much more sculptural and organic version of the clean, clinical minimalism that we've seen at the high end of bathroom design, so it's very easy to live with in terms of both aesthetics and practicality. Its design whispers, not shouts.

Its design whispers,
not shouts."
